Program Summary

EarthCorps will have AmeriCorps members implement watershed restoration activities to increase stormwater retention to stem the tide of rain-borne pollution in and around Seattle. At the end of the first program year, members will improve 250 acres of public lands. Members will leverage an additional 6,500 community volunteers who will plant trees, remove invasive weeds, and install and maintain specially engineered systems that manage stormwater by using plants and soils. This program will target the CNCS focus areas of environmental stewardship.
